 JOHN HENRY
 Editor

MONDAY, MARCH 2, 1914.

Geo. Headley, M.P., announces that he is pulling strings to get the Dominion Government to back a comprehensive scheme for making Calgary the stock centre of the Province. Matters of this kind belong to the Provincial rather than the Dominion authorities, though if the Dominion Government see fit to step in and place Edmonton at a disadvantage in this way there is nothing to prevent them doing so.

A North Battleford man wants Western towns to co-operate in effort to secure ten million settlers for Western Canada. There is room for them, provided they are really settlers—and for many more. The trouble with the movement in immigration matters is that the country is filled with the cities will grow without artificial stimulants.

The Winnipeg Tribune of a recent date notes that John Kozarsky, keeper of a dance hall, was fined in police court for giving away liquor at a dance. The punishment is somewhat unusual for an "offence" of this sort. The prohibitory regulation was adopted in Winnipeg after a protracted and very long experience had shown that either the festivities were to be modified or the population in some quarters of the city would be violently depleted. That the city authorities have power to make and enforce such regulations indicates that they have a wide measure of control over the disposal of intoxicants.

The opening of a direct mail service on the G.T.P. through Fort George will materially help the wholesalers of Edmonton to establish business connections in the great central and northern portion of the Empire, where they at present have a very distinct advantage but where they will later on have to compete on much less favorable terms with rivals at Vancouver, Portland, and Rupert. The more firmly the business interests of that great area are linked with Edmonton while the conditions are in Edmonton's favor, the more likely will be to hold the business when those conditions are altered by the completion of the G.T.P. to Prince Rupert and the construction of the line from Fort George to Vancouver.

The excuse of the Constitutionals for the murder of Benton is that he was tried by court-martial and convicted upon evidence. If General Villa were the commander of a legally organized army he could not be tried by court-martial for the crime of murdering officers, though not to deprive civilians of the right to a hearing in the civil courts and to place them at the disposal of a military tribunal. The Constitutionalist "army" being a band of outlaws, organized in defiance of law and for purposes of rebellion, has no right to court-martial anybody, least of all a civilian subject of a foreign country. Whether done under form of military law or by the methods more common to bandits, an execution carried out by these brigands is nothing more nor less than murder. The admission that Benton was condemned by a court-martial is the admission that Villa was a consenting party to his murder; just as the claim that he was innocent that he was guilty of the murder of Thomas Scott. The duty of President Wilson—and of President Huerta—is to bring Villa to the gallows.

Mr. Ferguson on Thursday next a resolution dealing with club licenses as follows:

- Resolved—(a) That, in the opinion of this House, all licenses to clubs should be cancelled forthwith.
- (b) That an amendment to the Liquor License Act should be made immediately.
- (c) That such amendment should set out the hours as being from 12 to 2 o'clock and 8 to 10 o'clock p.m., with meals, on being the only hours during which any alcoholic or intoxicating beverage could be served.
- (d) That no club shall receive a license unless such club has a membership of at least 125, who have paid a joining fee of $10, together with any and all dues.
- (e) That only a nominal license fee should be exacted with aforesaid conditions.

This motion was made by a supporter of the Roblin Government, in view of the disclosures made in the Kraftchensky enquiry. It was voted down by the Government, on the mover declining to withdraw it. The Liberals in the House voting in favor. The club license law in Alberta should be taken in hand and remodelled along somewhat similar lines. A fifty-dollar joining fee would of course prevent any but rich men belonging to clubs. There is no reason why such disability should be imposed on the man who is not rich, and the required fee might be made five dollars instead of fifty.

The individual citizen is responsible for securing employment for himself. The civic organization does nothing for him in that regard, except in a matter of urgency or charity. The country surrounding Edmonton is chiefly adapted for mixed farming. The great handicap for him in that regard is that the industry is the difficulty of securing labor. It seems unreasonable that with such conditions surrounding Edmonton the city should be required to supply labor for the country. The country around Edmonton is held in a condition of stagnation for lack of labor, and Edmonton is held in a condition of stagnation for lack of labor. The country around it is not being fully developed. We complain of the scarcity and high price of farm products, and yet we complain that those who demand work to take it where it awaits them, and where their work would be for the benefit of everyone, we use the money of the taxpayer to support them either in idleness or in unproductive labor.

There should not be any difference in official consideration toward a club of rich men and a club of poor men, and need be no such difference if the clubs are in either case organized for social purposes. If gambling and drink are only incidental to sociality, both institutions stand on the same basis so far as the law is concerned, and there is no difference between the club of the rich men or poor men. The point of criticism is that clubs ostensibly organized for social purposes are really organized and conducted for the purpose of selling liquor—and it is alleged, of gambling. Whether the members of these clubs are rich men or poor men, the institutions are not social clubs and their existence is a menace to the community. A social club of poor men is just as legitimate, and has just as much right to a measure of organization as one of rich men. On the other hand, a club of a man has no right to a measure of organization as one of rich men.

more right to make whiskey-selling and gambling the main purposes of its existence than has a club of poor men. The centralized control of the present law places clubs absolutely under the thumb of the Attorney-General. If they are conducted as booze joints and gambling dens, and the public have no assurance that the proper purposes of social clubs are adhered to.

WIRELESS TO THE NORTH

Mr. Bulfinch
 Sir,—A telegraph line has been under construction for the last two years towards Fort McMurray via Atholton Landing. I understand that the telegraph line is nearly complete to the point at Pelican Rapids on the Atholton River, so far as good. It is necessary that they have the telegraph line built as far as Pelican Rapids, which is the house of the country the facility of quick communication. I do not see why it would be advisable to build a telegraph line any further than that point, unless it is intended to be a wireless station. Between Pelican and Fort McMurray there are enough people to warrant a telegraph line, and it would cost thousands of dollars to build a line very difficult to keep up that line. The stations would be no far apart that it would take a day or so to find out the trouble if any.

In judgment, what I would call good business, would be this, that the Dominion government would establish wireless stations at the various points, a wireless station at Fort McMurray, one at Fort Chipewyan, one at Fort Vermilion, at Peace River, and a couple of stations further north on the McKenzie. These stations will not cost much more than the telegraph line between Pelican and Fort McMurray, and it would serve all of the northern people.

The first cost to erect these stations and their upkeep and operating expenses would be a great deal less than the other system. With the Pelican and Fort McMurray, and the McKenzie, each of these roads with their telegraph lines will be completed at the same time, within eighteen months to two years, before the Dominion government can complete their own telegraph line to McMurray. Therefore it would be justifiable for the government to extend their line there. On the other hand, at which stations can be established and in operation, it would be a careful consideration to receive.

FOUR STOREY OFFICE BUILDING ON JASPER

Williamson Brothers Are to Erect Handsome Building Opposite Fraser Avenue

(From Evening Edition)
 Plans are completed for a four-storey fully modern office building to be erected on the corner of Jasper and Fraser avenues, opposite Fraser avenue. The store fronts will be carried out in oak and plate glass, with prism lights.

Modern in construction and design, the new Williamson building will have a frontage of 120 feet on Jasper avenue, will have steel vaults on the second, third and fourth floors, small chutes and a passenger elevator. Mr. Williamson is the architect.

EX-PREMIER BRIAND AND MC CALLAULD HOLD DEBATE

Paris, Feb. 27.—The financial debate in the Chamber of Deputies today was the occasion for a supreme effort on the part of the Briandists to overthrow the ministry. The effort failed, as the vote of confidence was a vote of confidence 229 to 242.

Interest in the debate centered in the structural deal between former Premier Briand and M. Callaule, a dealer in finance. The debate was devoted to have been one of the most brilliant that has ever taken place in the chamber, impartial applause from all sections of the House greeted each verbal thrust or parry of the speaker. From these demonstrations it became evident that the sentiment of the House was in favor of a vote of confidence in the ministry. The vote of the delegates not favoring the idea of a ministerial crisis on the eve of elections.

The general political opinion is that the government has been attacked again in no danger of defeat unless some quite unusual incident arises.

LABOR QUESTIONS AT PEOPLE'S FORUM

Strikes and Their Results Are Discussed by Various Speakers

Speaking at the meeting of the People's Forum last night, H. B. Barton gave a history of the labor movement in the Dominion, and pointed out the fact that as only twenty-two per cent. of the labor force had been organized, and spoke in favor of compulsory arbitration.

From the point of view of the strikers, the loss and suffering caused had not been justified. He said he believed that labor unions were in a weak position. He said he believed that strikes and lockouts, although he admitted that the labor union had accomplished beneficial results, such as the increase of wages, the shortening of hours and to some extent the abolition of child labor. He deplored the violence that sometimes accompanied strikes.

Summing up his address, he said he believed that labor unions were responsible for damage done by them during strikes. He advocated the free use of the industrial process to prevent labor losses, and spoke in favor of compulsory arbitration.

Businessmen's Lenses Act.
 Joseph W. W. was the speaker in the main, but he said he was opposed to compulsory arbitration, and denoted the Lenses act as absurd and inefficient.

Prof. Alexander Lenses with the statement that strikes were not intellectually justifiable, and said it was impossible that economic strife in its acute stages should be controlled by the rules of war. He believed that strikes were largely responsible for the damage done, occurred during strikes, and closed with an appeal to industrial unionism, and to party rights.

Violence Not Authorized

S. J. Jones denied that the violence which sometimes accompanied strikes was authorized by the labor union. It was impossible for the union to control industrial action.

Prior to the discussion Mr. Clever gave a short address on "An Ambulance," and Mr. Styles sang "The Old Guard."

Next week G. R. Jackson, supervisor of playgrounds, will speak on the subject, "Why playgrounds are needed in maintaining public playgrounds."

SAYS AIRMAN TAMPERED WITH MACHINE HE SOLD

Charge Denied and Motives of It Revealed in Following Dismissal

Rome, Feb. 26.—Aviator Pogoda has demanded the arrest of one of his former mechanics named Friesch. Pogoda after leaving the loop at which he was flying, he sold the machine to the well known Piedmontese aviator, Dalmistro, for $2400. Friesch afterward sought out Dalmistro and informed him not to use the machine until it was examined. He declared he saw Pogoda with another mechanic cutting away a screw in the side of the reservoir tank which regulated the flow of gas to the engine. Further inspection of the perfect working of the machine when in a larger tanky port.

His said that Friesch had offered him $200 to keep silent. Friesch, however, sworn to the aviator and commissioner when the machine was unloaded. It was found to be defective, and Friesch was dismissed. Pogoda, on learning of the accusation, threatened to sue Friesch, and demanding an arrest on a charge of defamation. He also threatened to sue the aviator for the same. He said that the affair was an act of vengeance, conceived by Friesch, the summary dismissal of Friesch.
